Young writer's mystery published in magazine

Lori-Ann O'Brien, with the magazine featuring her mystery story.

A grade eight student at Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden is the latest published author in the Highlands.

Lori-Ann O'Brien, the daughter of Bruce and Betty O'Brien of Ingoldsby recently wrote a short mystery which was printed in the mass circulation publication Scholastic Scope.

The letter of acceptance from the magazine's publisher and the accompanying cheque caught Lori-Ann by surprise. She had prepared the article as part of a school project for her English class taught by Glen Carter. She submitted it to the magazine without expecting it to be published and was surprised when the note arrived announcing the article would be used.

The short story presents a mystery which the readers are to solve. The narrative sets the scene, lays out a number of clues and, of course, the masterful detective fingers the guilty party. The readers are challenged to discover how the detective knew who the culprit was. The mystery is a regular feature of the magazine.

Lori-Ann said she has always been interested in mysteries and has been an avid reader of them since discovering a series called "Three Minute Mysteries" in grade five.

Lori-Ann's present home-room teacher is Miss Betty Perugino.

The young author says that although she has some interest in writing, it is not a profession she wants to follow. She says she would like to be an accountant and perhaps continue writing short stories or mysteries in her spare time. For now, however, her reputation as the youngest author in print in Haliburton County is probably secure.

Meeting will help decide future of two hospitals

The first meeting of a number to decide the future of Minden and Haliburton Red Cross Hospitals has been called for April 22 at the PineStone Inn. The meeting is being organized by the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Council.

The gathering is in response to an announcement several years ago from the Canadian Red Cross Society that they planned to withdraw from the operation of ten small hospitals in the province. Among those were the facilities in these two communities.

Responsibility for organizing the transition from Red Cross control to the local community fell to the District Health Council.

Director for the organization, Marshall Elliott, told The Times one of the purposes of the meeting will be to bring the residents of the area up to date on the information the council has gathered on the future of the two hospitals. He said that since the Red Cross announced it was withdrawing from the service, a committee of the council has been considering a number of alternatives and options for the two facilities.

Some of the material gathered to date will be presented at the meeting later this month, while the remainder will be turned over to the steering committee which is expected to be formed at the meeting.

The steering committee, which will be chaired by a member of health council, will include members of both communities. Elliott said he expected a committee of 11 to 13 to be formed in attendance at the meeting and to volunteer their services.

He noted that the Health Council has decided that one steering committee will be formed to decide the future of the two hospitals in the county. The director said this fact reflected the view of the Council that the two facilities should be administered in a co-ordinated fashion. He said this approach could mean that services in the county would not only be maintained, but could be expanded.

"The two hospitals are too small to be maintained as individual institutions and would be more efficiently operated as co-ordinated units," the spokesman commented.

"The steering committee will be responsible for examining such questions as who will 'own' the hospitals when the Red Cross withdraws, who will be responsible for their operation and management."

He noted that once the facilities are turned over to local control, expected to occur by 1984, a large portion of the funding will come from the provincial government. Funding would be based on formulas similar to those applied to other hospitals in the province.

Elliott said there was no time limit other than the expressed desire of the Red Cross organization to withdraw by sometime in 1984. "We are organizing the steering committee now to give them lots of time to study all

March was above normal in temperature and below normal in precipitation. It averaged out to a very pleasant month although extremes in weather were experienced. The total snowfall for the past winter was 14.8 inches less than the amount received during 1979-80.

Stream flow is high, lakes are mostly full and rainfall during the month of April should determine the flood condition in May.

New roofing material for the Minden Curling Club was unloaded last week at the site. The sheets will be used to replace the present roof which leaked badly this spring. The material was placed on the roof in bundles, but no work has started. It is expected the contractor will begin replacing the present roof shortly.

FROM THE CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

Oh, it's so good to be back. After 10 days at the Toronto Sportsmen's Show plus a day to set up and an extra day to attend part of the Resorts Ontario convention, the Haliburton Highlands are great to come home to.

A note of appreciation here to Don Blakey who transported our display to the show and helped set it up, and Godfrey Saunders who loaned us his truck to bring it home. Thanks is also due to Mrs. Jane Roberts, my mother-in-law, who each year supplies me with room and board while the show is on. Co-operation of this nature allows us to participate in this event at a reasonable cost.

New brochures a hit

The response to our new area brochure and the summer accommodation guide has been excellent. Visitors to our booth at the Sportsmen's Show were enthusiastic about the brochure and were particularly pleased to be provided with a guide which listed 52 local accommodation facilities along with their rates and details on their features. When they realized what a handy guide this was many said they did not intend to pick up any more brochures since this covered everything they need to know. A number of our members have already reported acquiring bookings from this material and when fully distributed it is bound to have a considerable impact.

Working the Toronto Sportsmen's Show is an annual opportunity to take a bit of a reading on the attitudes and impressions of the potential tourist traffic for the coming year. This year we have a very optimistic feeling about the approaching season. More and more people are seeking good holiday facilities within a reasonable distance from Metro.

We also talked to a great number of U.S. visitors who had come up from border cities specifically for the show in order to plan their vacations. We also talked there with representatives of other areas who had done some American shows and they tell us that interest from that sector is extremely high. The trend over the last several years is continuing to strengthen also, that cost is of secondary importance to the quality and cleanliness of their selected facilities.

Interest in cottages and building lots and acreages was also intense, while many cottagers who now have their properties discussed extensive renovation and winterizing plans they were considering.

All in all, while most of the country talks of restraint and declines in the economy, tourism is alive and well and flourishing. How fortunate we are that many of our economy relies on the one portion of the economy that is going against the grain.

Cut-back promotional budget

The Directors of the Chamber wrestled with the changes required in the budget at a marathon meeting of the board last week which lasted until almost 1:00 a.m. The original budget had contained a very ambitious marketing program which required extensive financial assistance from the county, and none of these funds will now be available. In fact, administration must even be cut somehow by as much as $6,500.00.

Many decisions remain to be made and perhaps some ideas may be forthcoming at the "Chamber Roast" on how we might accomplish some of the ideas the board feel are very necessary.

One of the decisions made by the board was that since the budget to prepare and distribute news releases had to be dropped, that part of this program could be surveyed by replacing this column every other week with news releases sent to newspapers and other media outside our own area. This column will therefore not appear in future on a regular weekly basis, but copies of the news releases will be provided to the local papers and they may or may not wish to publish them.

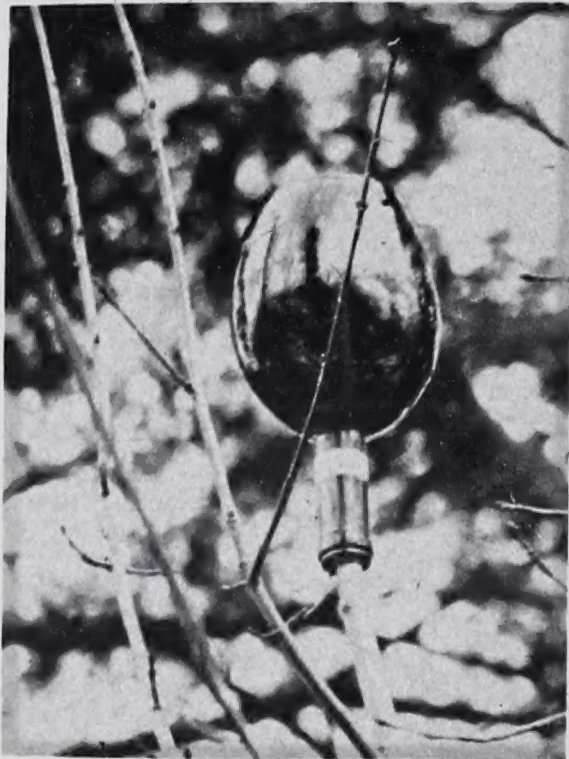

It is indeed unfortunate to be cutting back on area promotion at so critical a time in the development of tourism in the province, but it takes money to do all that should be done. More money than we have available to us. Tonight, Wednesday, April 8, the Chamber is hosting a "Roast" at the PineStone Inn. If you have any idea how we can do it better we'd sure appreciate your attendance.

Coming next week

The Federal Business Development Bank is, in co-operation with the Chamber, running a one-day "Book-keeping Seminar" at the Pine Stone Inn on Wednesday, April 15 from 8:30 to 4:30. Cost is only $35 including lunch and materials. If you have no previous experience in record keeping, or even just a little, we are sure you will find the seminar most productive. It is also an excellent refresher course for those who have had several years of business experience. To register please call Kathy McNeil in Peterborough at 1-748-3241.

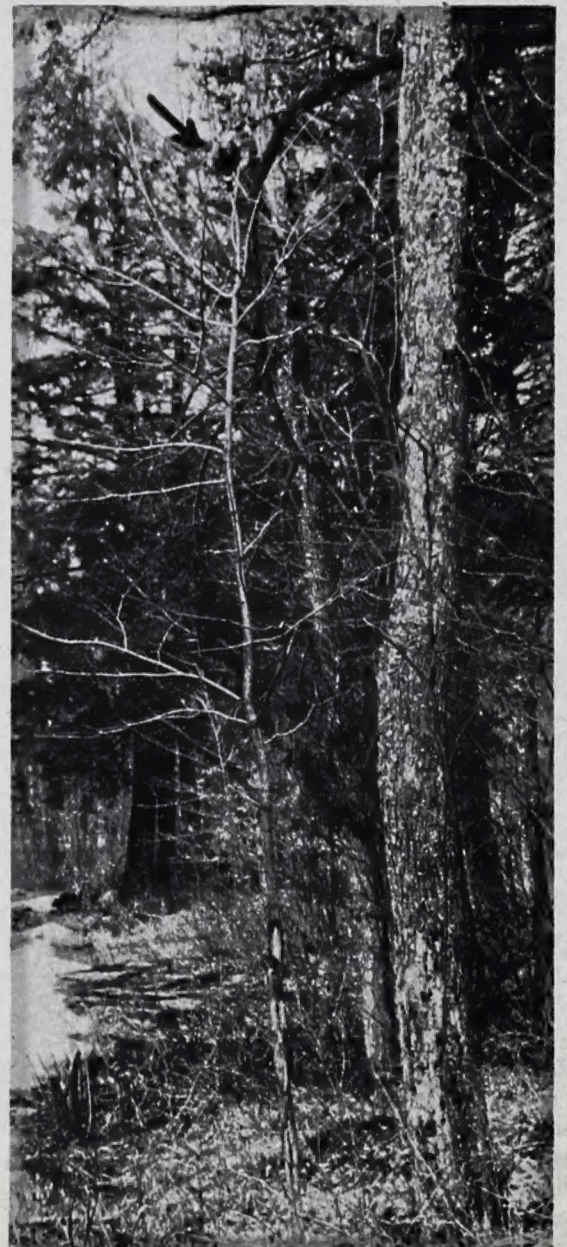

On Thursday, April 16, at 7:00 p.m. at the PineStone Inn the H.C.S.A. and the Chamber will be meeting to search for ways and means to fund their trail programs. The

Wine bottle tree found growing in Hindon Township

There are many strange plants growing in the Haliburton Highlands, but none rarer than the wine bottle tree. This tree, seen at the right, is identified by its strangely-shaped fruit, seen above.

This bottle tree can be found along the Poverty Lake access road in Hindon township and is probably the handiwork of a very tall hunter or individual with a very accurate throwing arm.

Badminton team has high hopes

The Haliburton Highlands Secondary School badminton team may be headed for the All-Ontario championship later this spring.

The team, coached by Frank Wallace, has been involved in regional and district competitions and has fared very well. Five members of the senior team and 13 junior team members have so far qualified for further play. The team members travel to Peterborough today and tomorrow to participate in the final qualifying round. Those who are successful will advance to the Eastern Ontario play-downs scheduled for Oshawa and Belleville.

trails in the county are very important to our winter business and funds for their care and development are shrinking. If you are in any way interested in seeing their considerable efforts continue we urge you to attend this important meeting.

the options carefully," he commented. "We want to make sure this is not a rush situation."

He said the Health Council believed that the level of service at the local hospitals should be maintained and expanded if possible.

The Health Council representative also noted that rumors had circulated a number of years ago that one of the two hospitals would be closed. Elliott said the meeting later this month should make clear that the council endorses the continued operation of both facilities.

The meeting will be held April 22 at PineStone Inn beginning at 7:30 p.m. Residents of the areas served by the two hospitals have been invited to attend.

successful at the district level," he commented, "but this time we are shooting for the All-Ontario." He noted that the members have been actively preparing for the competition, some arriving at the high school at 7 o'clock in the morning to take part in practices.

Members of the junior team who will compete today in Peterborough include: Chris Lodenquai, Andrew Shapiera, Jim Woods, Paul Mayo, Paul Vuksic, Scott Yake, Darlene Allison, Tara Davies, Wendy Ballantyne, Signe Tashlin and Marla McNaul. The members of the senior team include Heather Kennedy, Mike Hatkoski, Randy Vanderstarren, Pam Iles and Miriam Vanderwal.

Skaters had their last opportunity on the ice at the Minden arena this past week as the season came to an end. Classes from Archie Stouffer Elementary School used the time for recreation period and to collect pledges in the annual skate-a-thon. The event, sponsored by the Minden Rotary Club, provides a forum through which local organizations can raise funds. Early reports indicate that close to $4000 was raised during this year's event. These skaters are just a few of many who enjoyed a last spin around the rink.

MNR braces for fire season

The Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources is gearing up to face a forest fire season which could be as severe as last year's, Natural Resources Minister James Auld announced.

"The dry winter weather, with low snowfall, and a long-range forecast indicating drier than usual spring weather, place our forest areas in an extremely hazardous situation."

"Conditions for burning are very high in northern Ontario, particularly in the northwestern and north central regions," the Minister said.

"We are taking special steps to build up our capabilities for fire prevention, early detection and prompt attack to deal with this potentially difficult situation."

Mr. Auld warned that even now, although there is some snow left, all residents and visitors to forest areas should take precautions to prevent outbreaks of fire. "Already in March, people clearing brush on their properties have had fires escape from them because of the very dry conditions," he said.

"My Ministry is continuing an intensified drive to bolster the fire management program. Our efforts are being directed at key components to ensure that the strongest possible capability is in place as early as possible," Mr. Auld said.

The 1981 fire management budget has been increased to approximately $25 million, which is $6.25 million more than last year's total.

Major moves are being taken across the province to integrate woods industry workers into the fire management program. This is in response to an offer for co-operative action from the Ontario Forest Industries Association after last year's severe season.

Throughout the winter, OFIA and MNR officials worked together to plan the role woods workers will take in fire suppression. The program includes action plans in case of fire outbreaks, ways of practising fire prevention, training of fire crew personnel, and improving the speed and effectiveness of fire communications to the camps in the bush.

Another MNR activity is the considerable effort being made to have rural residents and the major railroads remove hazardous fuel matter in potential fire areas before snow has melted in the forests.

Key additions to MNR's fire management program for 1981 are:

—Hiring has been accelerated and 30 additional fire-man unit crews added to the force. Plans are to have 50 crews on duty by April 21, 95 crews by May 5, and 175 crews by May 15.

—Four Canso water bombers have been added to the air attack fleet, bringing the provincial total to nine. Three new twin Otter fire bombers have been purchased and are ready to go. Other air attack contracts have been advanced in readiness for early spring.

—Seven additional helicopter (helitack) units, each providing 75 to 90 days of service, will be added to the helitack system, bringing the unit strength to 17.

—Seven helitack support staff will be added, and 150 working days will be added to the existing operational time of the present fleet of ten helicopters.

—Four observers have been added to the existing fire detection crews to provide extended and increased coverage. And 650 more hours of flying time have been added to the existing detection system.

The Ministry's fire fighting efforts will be increased in other ways as well.

The fire prevention program has 20 staff assigned

New stamps feature religious figures

Two members of seventeenth century religious orders will be featured on 17 cent postage stamps to be issued April 24.

Kateri Tekakwitha, known as the "Lily of the Mohawks," was born in 1656 in what is now Auriesville in New York State; she was raised by an uncle after her Mohawk father and Algonquian mother died of smallpox. She soon fled her village to live at the St. Francis Xavier mission near Montreal, where she lived a virtuous life until her death in 1680 at the age of twenty-four. The Roman Catholic Church declared her venerable in 1943 and beatified in 1980. She is the first North American Indian to receive either honour.

Marie Guyart, later known as Marie de l'Incarnation, was born in 1599 in France. After her husband died she entered the Ursuline convent and later came to Quebec, where she founded the Ursuline order and acted as Superior of its convent until her death in 1672. She dedicated herself to the education of French and Indian girls, having mastered several Indian languages and compiled Algonquian and Iroquoian dictionaries. She was declared venerable in 1911 and beatified in 1980.

Statues of the subjects by sculptor Emile Brunet were used for the design of the stamps. The designer, Laurent Marquart of Montreal, has used high-contrast photos of both works in appropriate colours combined with identifying graphic elements for each stamp: the lily, insignia of the Ursuline order, and the turtle, symbol of Kateri's clan of the Mohawk tribe.

Ashon-Potter Limited, Toronto, will print 21,500,000 of the 17-cent stamps in four colours.

One of the stamps featured in the new issue shows the likeness of Marie de l'Incarnation

Right attitude needed

There are many issues which could be brought to the floor for discussion at tonight's Chamber of Commerce "roast", so before the floor is open for discussion, we'd like to interject our own two cents worth.

One of the foremost issues facing the Chamber at the moment is a clarification of exactly who the organization represents and to whom it is responsible.

In the past, the county-wide organization has taken a great deal of flack from the Haliburton politicians. County Council meetings in particular have become forums for Chamber bashing. The township representatives have felt, and, to a certain extent, rightly so, that since they provide the Chamber with a large grant, this year $16,500, they are the pipers who should call the tune.

While this approach appears to have some validity, it ignores the fact that the Chamber of Commerce is an organization of Highlands businesses. These merchants provide through their dues, purchase of advertising in Chamber publications and other methods, financial support that exceeds the county contribution. These business people, who represent an important part of the county economy, have continued to support the Chamber despite the verbal assault from municipal politicians. These people are the backbone of the Chamber, the reason the organization exists, and yet their importance has been virtually ignored. Will their support continue under these conditions?

Related to the source of the Chamber's income is the fact the organization cannot raise enough money from traditional sources to carry out all of its plans or the demands of members and politicians. The Chamber has reacted to this situation in the past by raising money for itself, providing printing and photo copying services, publishing ventures, and a variety of over-the-counter sales projects. At the moment the organization is also considering whether it should open a travel agency operation at the local booth.

Should an organization which is subsidized in part by public funds and membership dues become involved in a venture that will be in direct competition with another business in the community?

Another constant thorn in the side of the Chamber is the lack of representation on the Board of Directors from all areas of the county. At the moment the southeastern portion of the Highlands is without a voice on the board, a situation which has only aggravated the feeling in that sector of alienation.

At the moment only members who attend the annual meeting are allowed to vote for the 12 on the Board of Directors. Is there any reason this privilege could not be extended to all members of the Chamber through a mail ballot? This method would, we think, give a better county-wide representation and allow those members who can't afford the time or money to attend the annual meeting, an opportunity to voice their opinion.

The Chamber's Board of Directors will place its collective neck on the block tonight. With a positive attitude on the part of those coming to roast, and those being roasted, the Chamber could emerge a stronger organization with a renewed sense of purpose and direction. However, the Chamber could also be reduced to an ineffectual waffling body that is of little value to anyone.

We hope for the former, but fear the latter may result.

Editor:

I was appalled to read your article "Councillors Enrol Themselves in OHIP, Drug Plan." It would seem presumptuous for elected officials in Anson, Hindon and Minden to assume that the ratepayers wish to bear medical, drug, and supplementary medical expenses for council and their families.

With these benefits, plus their pay, plus their fixed expense account, the increases in remuneration for our elected representatives appear to be as follows:

- Councillors - 31% increase over previous level
- Deputy Reeve - 40% increase over previous level
- Reeve - 17% increase over previous level.

These percentage increases do not include expenses for conventions and other functions; nor does it include mileage paid for attending regularly scheduled meetings of council.

These men were elected to run the municipality's affairs in a business like fashion. To set an inflationary precedent such as this does not reinforce my faith in their ability.

Three members have less than six months experience on our council, but have already decided that they merit excessive increases.

It is apparent from your article that the by-law was not read in its entirety at a council meeting, nor discussed during the meeting. I do not doubt they would be embarrassed to discuss it.

In your April 1, 1981 issue it says a councillor questions whether the township can afford a house numbering program. If council can vote themselves an increase of over $5200.00, surely they can afford a $3000.00 house numbering project.

As I was a member of the previous council, our elected representatives may think that my outrage is a case of 'sour grapes' because I was not a part of a sizeable increase in remuneration and benefits. I will remind them that during my term on council, on two occasions, I introduced the motions keeping the pay levels for council at the previous levels. Those motions passed unanimously.

I still believe that the 1980 levels are sufficient for the amount of time and effort expended by the Anson, Hindon and Minden council.

During my term on council, it was said by all members, that they were certainly not there for the money, but for a genuine concern for the affairs of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden.

I feel that may have changed!

S.C. Brandon,
Minden.

Editor:

So far this has been a tremendous year for the Rockcliffe Hotel and the newly elected Council for Anson, Hindon & Minden.

The Rockcliffe has had an increase of 30.5% or ($916.34) in Business and Commercial taxes, so now we only pay $4,207.33. For this amount of money we receive dump privileges, one street light located at the west property line and an excellent Fire Department. You can't include roads and sidewalks because of the hazardous condition that they are in.

The Rockcliffe has to absorb a 69% or ($253.80) increase in the water bill, so now we only pay $620.40 for the same quality water. The only perk we have received is in our sewer bill which only increased 48¢ so now we only pay $480.00.

The Anson, Hindon and Minden Councillors to date have voted themselves increases ranging from 17% to 40%, this includes wages, expenses, OHIP, extended medical coverage and includes them in the municipal employees drug plan. This represents an increased expenditure of approximately $5,300.

I ask you, who is winning?

Editor:

I am writing to tell of the experiences I have had with our present council (Anson, Hindon and Minden). I feel they are a most inactive council.

In my experience, they don't seem to know what they are doing; if they do, so far they have made a poor job of showing it!

On November 11, 1980, I sold a bush lot. The council took $225.00 for severance and passed the severance, then the County charged $65.00 for their part. They also passed the severance.

On January 8 of this year, our by-law Officer was notified by mail that the by-law was no good and could not be accepted. A few days later I went to a council meeting and took this matter up with council but they did not seem to know what to do to straighten it out. They had Elinor Burke write to the Ministry of Housing and I also wrote them, but with no results. I then had my lawyer write to them - still no results!

Mr. Abe Syed of the Ministry of Housing came up and he said here that the by-law would not work, however he would write and tell Elinor how to change it. A week later I phoned the Ministry of Housing and complained to Abe Syed. He telephoned Elinor then and told her how the by-law had to be changed.

Then council said it would have to be advertised for three weeks in our local newspapers at my expense (approximately $20 per insertion). I gave in finally and agreed to pay half the cost which I feel I had no need to do as it wasn't and isn't my mistake. I waited another week because they still had to find out the actual charge for the advertising, however, I discovered our clerk, Elinor Burke, had not prepared anything for the papers.

This is by now, March second. Mrs. Burke said she was in no hurry as she had until March 10 to have it ready for council. I told her very plainly that I was not waiting eight more days.

I phoned Lloyd Walker the same afternoon, with no results. I then called Ed Pergolas the same evening (March 2) only to have him say he didn't have time to talk to me, so I informed him he had lots of time prior to the election to talk to anybody! I called Lyle McKnight then and he took it up with council

Report from Parliament

by William C. Scott, M.P.

The federal government is pushing ahead full speed to implement the metric system in Canada, by the devious means of Order in Council rather than by way of legislation which would allow for full debate in Parliament.

This is being done in spite of massive opposition to the scheme on the part of consumer groups, retail merchants' associations and individuals all across the country.

The February 28, 1981 edition of the Canada Gazette contained the announcement of deadlines for conversion to metric. Some areas of the country must be fully converted as early as December 31, 1982, while all other areas must be converted no later than December 31, 1983.

Since the average Canadian does not read the Canada Gazette, at least not on a regular basis, the metric announcement has gone largely unnoticed by the general public.

Prime Minister Trudeau insists that if Canada retains the Imperial system of measurement we will be out of step with our trading partners and most other countries of the world, but that is a fallacy.

I pointed out in this column in June, 1980, that both the United States and Great Britain have backed off on going metric, and those countries are our major trading partners.

I also pointed out that our government has adopted the metric system known as Systeme Nationale, the least-used metric system in the world. Of all major nations in the world, only France uses Systeme Nationale.

If Canada adopts and implements Systeme Nationale, it will mean that we will be out of step with most of the countries that use metric, and that would not be an improvement over keeping the Imperial system.

The Counties of Victoria, Haliburton and Peterborough must be fully converted to metric not later than June 30th, 1983, and so must the Townships of Georgina and Brock. It will be illegal for merchants to have equipment in a store or shop incapable of measuring in metric after November 30, 1982 in Haliburton County, after March 31, 1983 in Victoria and Peterborough Counties and after May 31, 1983 in Brock and Georgina.

The announcement in the Canada Gazette is a Public Notice, and there is a period of only sixty days from the date of publication during which the public can respond. That means that all representations to the government on this matter must be received by the appropriate Minister no later than April 28, 1981.

I urge all of my constituents in Victoria-Haliburton who are opposed to converting our country to the metric system to write and express your objections, without delay.

Write to Bill Scott, M.P., Rm. 534CB, House of Commons, Ottawa, Ontario, K1A 0A6, and/or Honourable Andre Ouellet, P.C., M.P., Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, House of Commons, Ottawa, Ont. K1A 0A6.

Letters to me or to the Minister will not require any postage.

Those of us who are opposed to metric hope that the weight of public opposition to metric will be so great that the government will be forced to bring the issue into the House of Commons for debate, where it should have been handled, instead of by Order in Council.

Trucks collide

Two trucks were damaged in an accident April 1 on Highland Street in Haliburton Village. The mishap took place at 6 p.m.

According to police, a 1978 pick-up truck driven by Nancy Wood, 18, of Highland Street, was reversing from a parking lot when it was in collision with a 1975 pick-up truck driven by Larry Medley of Dysart Township.

The collision resulted in $900 damage to the Wood vehicle and $1500 damage to the Medley truck. Medley received a minor injury in the mishap.

Wood has been charged with failing to yield.

The accident was investigated by Constable Al Bibby.

Rolls over
A charge of careless driving has been laid against a Wilberforce man following a single car accident April 5.

The mishap occurred April 5 as Fred J. Berning, 25, drove on Highway 648 in Cardiff Township. The vehicle left the roadway and rolled over into the ditch causing damage estimated at $1800.

The accident was investigated by Constable Wim Magee.

THANK YOU

The Dominion Hotel Hockey team wishes to thank the council, the business people, the K-40 ladies, Larry & Lyle McNight, Tommy Williamson and all who attended and gave donations to the benefit dance for Barb and Jim Todd. Your co-operation and support was really appreciated.

The marshes are once again livened by the cher-o-kee of blackbirds, and urban lawns graced by the welcome return of robins. From now until June, each dawn will be greeted by a serenade of bird song, and many of these songs will be far more complex than we generally realize.

Using modern recording machinery, scientists have been able to slow down a typical bird song, and discovered that our human ears miss most of their message. Even a rough "chur" is not the simple note that we hear, but actually an intricate pattern of modulations repeated so quickly that we can't distinguish all its inflections. That pattern is not only typical of the species, but also sufficiently distinctive often to identify the individual bird.

One of American's leading bird-song detectives, Aretas Saunders, has suggested that if we organized birds by their songs, a very different family tree would result. For example, the towhee, redstart, and meadowlark all share the habit of alternating two different songs. A long string of phrases, beginning with rapid notes and ending with slower slurred notes is shared by pied-billed grebes, gallinules and yellow-billed cuckoos. Purple finches and ruby-crowned kinglets habitually repeat their song several times without a pause.

Bird songs vary with the season. The territory song, used by males to stake their claim to a nesting area, is the most noticeable spring song. Some birds such as the meadowlark have another, much softer, "courtship song" that is overheard only rarely during the nesting season.

In the fall, the songsters are generally quieter, but Saunders describes a series of faint warbling or twittering songs that occasionally emanate from a wide variety of species. His theory is that these are "primitive songs", harking back to the ancestral roots of the species. These primitive songs are often heard from young birds before they establish their first territory and begin to sing in earnest. Scientists think that these primitive songs are inherited, but the full-fledged adult song probably is learned.

For the bird-watcher, songs are a valuable aid to identification as well as pleasant music to the ear. In fact, the smaller species of flycatchers are so similar in the field that learning their songs is the only reliable way to identify them with accuracy.

that night (still March 2). I informed council quite plainly that if S.G. Nesbitt were still Reeve (a position of which I feel he is most worthy) he would have seen this matter straightened up by the end of January.

On April 11 it will be five months waiting to sell a wood lot, because our council is disinterested in anything outside the village of Minden. However, I did notice the kayakers - after destroying the look of the Gull River - approached council about building a parking lot for them which council has promised to do because they hope the kayakers will bring more business to Minden.

Before our last election, while seeking seats on council, they said they were concerned about our high taxes. Since then our taxes have doubled on some properties.

If ever we needed a ratepayer's association, it is now!

Class size ranges from 44 to 64 students

This is the second of two articles written recently by Patrick Daniel, a summer resident of the area and a former New Democratic Party candidate in federal and provincial elections.

Mr. Daniel and his wife are in China teaching English at a secondary school in Shandong Province. In this report Mr. Daniel describes life in the school.

The Railway Workers' Middle School in Jinan serves about 2,000 students, ranging in age from 13 to 18 years. These are the children of railway workers in the Jinan Railway District, and the school is administered by the Educational Department of the District Railway Office. It is one of four middle schools for the offspring of railway workers in the city of Jinan. (There are about 30,000 railway workers in the city.) There are more than 80 secondary schools in the city.

The students, coming from an area with a radius of about 6 kilometers, arrive at the school at 7.20 a.m. for a period of self-study, and classes begin at 8 a.m. There is a break of 2 hours at noon for lunch and recreation. Classes resume from 1:30 p.m. until 3:30 p.m. and then follows a 1 1/2 hour period of organized recreation in which all students participate at least twice a week.

Teachers are usually responsible for three classes in their given subject. They teach from 12 - 15 period a week, and class size ranges from 44 to 64 students per class.

School operates six days a week; two of the six afternoons are taken up with organized self-study periods for the whole school. On Saturdays school closes early - at 4 p.m.

All students of this school return to their homes for the night. Most teachers, married and unmarried, live on the grounds of the school in small apartments or dormitories provided by the employer at a nominal charge. Teachers' salaries are extremely low even when the low cost of living is taken into consideration.

There are about 115 teachers on the staff of the school, and another 50 support staff of various categories.

The visitor to the school is met at the entrance to the administration building by a Vice-Principal and conducted to a reception room where he is plied with tea while he receives a general introduction to the school from the Principal and the Dean of Studies. After a few minutes the group moves out into the halls and past various windows showing the classes hard at work.

In the Fourth Year English class, the students are being quizzed about "The Emperor's New Clothes" which they have just finished reading. They respond to questions read from the text by the teacher standing on his platform at the front. He has been teaching at the school for over twenty years - he taught Russian in the early days when that was the chief second language in China, but now there is no more Russian taught in secondary schools and so he has had to switch to English.

All students in this school are required to take an English course each year they are in school. In fact, most of them began their study of English in primary school.

There are two "streams" in this school - Science and Liberal Arts. Students are placed in one stream or the other after three years in the school, and then have two more years of specialization. Once the student has been placed in a "stream" there are no options except in the extra-curricular interest groups such as singing, band, dancing and art.

Recently the national government has announced that the "middle school" program will return to a six-year program as it was before the "cultural revolution". This change will be phased in at different rates in different parts of the country.

Teachers in this school generally teach from the platform at the front of the room. In each room are about 50 or 60 students, all sitting in pairs on small benches in front of double desks.

In the Fourth Year English class the visitor is asked to read from the text and to talk to the students briefly. It is apparently the first time they have heard a native speaker of English. The text is an anthology of short selections published in Beijing (Peking) and authorized by the national Ministry of Education; the approach is much like that used in the Ontario High Schools with Cours Moyen de Français in the 1940's.

The school has three labs (for physics, chemistry, and biology), a new, unused closed-circuit T.V. system, and a library from which teachers can borrow books for their classes - no individual borrowing by students.

Above the library is the First year students recreation room where a group of 50 or 60 youngsters are singing lustily under the direction of a young woman teacher - part of the extra-curricular, voluntary program in the late afternoon. In the band room, where the program for the week on the blackboard proclaims that this day is an "inspection day", the foreigner listens to several orchestral numbers, using both Chinese and Western instruments, and then to vocal solos by a boy ("Red River Valley" sung in Chinese) and then by a girl ("The Four Modernizations under the Leadership of Chairman Mao", composed by the music teacher in the school.)

group of about 12 girls is practising some traditional Chinese folk dances in preparation for a performance at an upcoming "occasion" - first a graceful lotus-flower dance, and then a lively and humorous four-person dance in which the dancers wear huge heads of papier-mache, with painted mask faces with stupid grins and two-pigtailed for the girls and the single pigtail for the boys, as was the custom in the old days.

The Jinan Railway Workers' Middle School has a reputation as one of the top secondary schools in the city of Jinan, and in the Province of Shandong.

Farm news & views

4-H Agricultural Clubs in Victoria County started the year with a 4-H Roundup on March 25th at Ops Community Centre.

About 90 4-H members and leaders took time out to explain the finer points of curling on the ice surface. For many members, this was their first experience at the game.

A variety of 4-H projects will be offered this year. Regular projects include beef, dairy, sheep, swine, field crops, garden and veterinary science. New projects are farm machinery and heritage.

Members in the Victoria 4-H Heritage Club will be studying the history of Agriculture in Victoria County.

4-H Clubs are offered in a number of communities in the County. There are 4-H calf clubs in Bobcaygeon, Fenelon, Omemee, Lindsay, Little Britain and Woodville. The rest of the 4-H Clubs are offered on a County basis.

One of the highlights of the 4-H Roundup was the best breed competition. 4-H members were divided into breed groups. Each group was required to answer questions related to 4-H and agriculture. The breed group with the most correct answers was declared the winner.

The individual 4-H Clubs will be organizing during the month of April. Meeting dates and locations will be included with the Agricultural Office's list of coming events.

4-H is open to anyone 12 - 19 years of age as of January 1, 1981.

Ontario bull sale

The 1981 Ontario Beef Bull Sale was held last week at Markham. A number of cattlemen from Victoria County were among the large crowd of people on hand to watch 100 quality beef bulls being sold.

Twelve out of the 100 bulls were purchased by Victoria County farmers.

The top price paid in the sale was $3200. This was the price received for both the Champion Hereford bull and for the Champion Charolais bull.

The 6 Charolais bulls averaged $2133; the 6 Simmental averaged $2000, the 71 Herefords averaged $1470, the 3 Shorthorns averaged $1266 and the 12 Angus bulls averaged $1012.50.

Almost every bull in this year's sale was a good type animal.

Ontario's Tax Grants for Senior Citizens. 1981 installments have been mailed.

Last year Ontario replaced its system of tax credits for seniors with a new program of Property and Sales Tax Grants. The Property Tax Grant of up to $500 is provided in two installments annually. The Sales Tax Grant is an automatic $50 paid each year to Ontario residents 65 and over.

Property Tax Grants

◆ Eligibility. If you're 65 or over and own or rent your home you're eligible for the Property Tax Grant of up to $500.

If you reside in a nursing home, a home for the aged or similar institution, you're not eligible for the Property Tax Grant unless you pay for the full cost of your care and the institution pays municipal and school taxes.

◆ No Application Needed. If you qualified for the Property Tax Grant last year you'll automatically receive the April installment. This cheque, to a maximum of $250 will be half of last year's Grant. Your installment cheque was mailed April 6th. This is intended to assist you in paying your property tax or rent for the first part of 1981. In the fall you'll automatically receive an application for the balance of your Grant.

◆ If you turned 65 after December 31, 1980 (and therefore did not qualify for a Grant last year) you won't receive the April installment. However, in the fall you'll receive an application for the entire 1981 Grant.

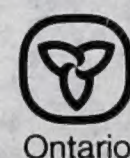

Sales Tax Grants

An annual $50 Grant is paid automatically to every senior citizen. You will receive your 1981 Sales Tax Grant this fall.

Special Note

If you do not receive the federal Old Age Security Pension and you're 65 or over, please contact our Information Centre toll-free for details on how to receive your Grants.

The following animal is available for adoption at the Minden Animal Clinic, 286-2919.

- Newfoundland male, black and white, affectionate.

Still waiting for his kiss, this silken frog rests on his lily-pad at the Rail's End Gallery. The frog is part of an exhibition of painting on silk, silk screening, batik and other works on silk. For those who may wish to discover if a prince lies hidden behind this broad grin, time is running out. The exhibition ends this Saturday.

The week's activities started on Monday morning with fun and fitness. The residents enjoyed an hour of exercising and playing games to music.

In the afternoon the ladies gathered in the craftroom to work on their many different projects. They are making quilts, afghans and cushions just to mention a few of the lovely items.

The movies were shown in the auditorium on Monday evening. "Williamsburg" was an exceptionally good film which showed the beauty of that city. The place has been restored to its natural state in the eighteenth century. We saw how barrels are made by the coopers.

"In the Centre of Italy" was also a very interesting film which introduced us to the folk lore of Italy. We saw beautiful cathedrals which have been kept in their natural state since the 1600's. We also saw pottery in the making, and it was interesting to note that no two articles are ever the same. These films were both very interesting

We thought this column had been retired with last week's edition but as it turned out, the Minden Atoms had one more contest to complete their 1980-81 season.

The team travelled to Wilberforce on the weekend to take part in an end of the season tournament and came home with a 11-0 victory over their hosts.

Scott Russell led the way for the Atoms, scoring three goals, one unassisted, and helping with two other tallies. Jeff Francis also earned a hat trick in the contest. One of his goals was an unassisted effort.

Other goal getters for Minden included Dwayne Cooper with a pair, one unassisted, and a single assist; Derek Allison with an unassisted goal and two assists; Greg Stamp with a single and two assists and Corry Ackley with a single, unassisted.

Minden scored four goals in the first period, three in the second and four more in the final period.

and were enjoyed by all those who went to the movies.

Tuesday morning Rev. John Smith of Haliburton held an inspiring service in the Chapel. Agnes Taylor played the organ for us and Barbara Trociewicz led in the singing. Special thanks to Barbara who is responsible for getting us some large print hymn books.

What Every Student Needs To Find A Job This Summer

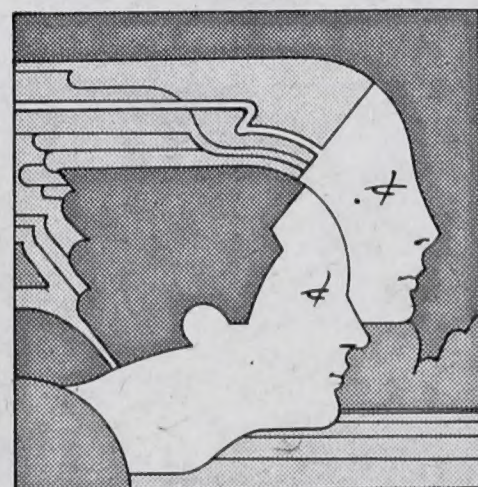

It takes more than a simple desire to work and a little good luck to find a job. It takes organization, determination and a willingness to try a variety of options.

That's why the Ontario Youth Secretariat has written a special handbook called "The Edge."

"The Edge" gives a systematic and positive plan of action for finding work and then making the most of it. It also gives guidelines on how to create a job by turning personal talents into a small enterprise.

"The Edge" is an essential primer for any young person looking for a job. That's why we're making it available free at high schools, college and university placement centres and libraries.

Or you can write to us, Ontario Youth Secretariat, Queen's Park, Toronto, Ontario, M7A 1Z1. We'll make sure you get "The Edge."

Green Thumb corner

This week marks the return of our popular spring time feature, Green Thumb Corner. The corner this year will feature articles prepared by experts associated with the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food. As always, we welcome your comments.

The Green Thumb Corner opens 1981 in the vegetable patch. The first article, written by H. Tiessen of the Department of Horticultural Science at the University of Guelph, deals with selecting the right vegetables for your particular garden.

In our second offering, Rudy Brown of the Ridgetown College of Agricultural Technology discusses methods of keeping weeds to a minimum in your garden.

Selecting seed

When choosing vegetables to grow, consider the size of garden, family preference and the garden location. You can double the yield of the average family garden with a little planning.

Select a location with the most sunlight, good drainage and good soil. If the garden is small, improve soil conditions by adding topsoil, peat, manure or some other additives.

You can get higher yields from crops grown in small areas with better environmental conditions, even if some of them are artificial, than you can get from larger, shaded and poorly-drained areas. A daily minimum of six hours of sunlight is necessary. If the only sunny areas are patios or open driveways, grow plants 30 to 45 centimetres (12 to 18 inches) in boxes of topsoil.

In a small garden, concentrate on one or two vegetables, such as tomatoes, peppers and radishes. Avoid space-consuming crops, such as squash, melon, cucumbers and potatoes. In other words, grow crops that respond to intensive cultivation.

Choose such space-saving crops as carrots, beets, onions, radishes and lettuce. As soon as the harvest of one crop is completed, another can be planted in its place.

Continuous cropping of tomatoes and peppers is desirable. If you have a small, out-of-the-way place with adequate sunlight, plant two to four plants of splicing cucumbers on a trellis to meet family needs throughout the summer.

You could also grow perennials, such as asparagus, rhubarb and chives in the perennial flower borders.

Through proper selection of vegetables, intensive cultivation and proper management, you can harvest a large volume of vegetables from a small growing area.

Weed control

The best approach to weed control in a vegetable or flower garden is to stir the soil regularly. Use a hoe or small hand cultivator before weeds grow much past the seedling stage. Shallow hoeing is best to conserve soil moisture.

Most vegetable gardens include a variety of crops that won't tolerate the same herbicide. For this reason, it is best to consider mechanical or cultural weed control methods.

If weeds are kept under control for a number of years and weed seeds or perennial weed parts are not allowed to reproduce or develop, weed control becomes easier each year. "One year's seeding means seven year's weeding" says the old adage. Many of our weed seeds will live 30 to 40 years in the soil waiting for optimum germinating conditions. Velvetleaf, pigweed, lamb's quarters, ragweed, mustard, purslane and fox-tail seeds have been known to remain viable after 38 to 40 years in the soil.

Another effective way to keep weeds from growing and conserve soil moisture and moderate temperature is to mulch the soil. Colored plastic shades out weeds. Lay a metre-wide (3 foot) strip of plastic on top of the soil. Tuck the edges into shallow trenches and cover with soil. This is done after you have prepared the soil for planting. Punch holes through plastic at each place where transplants are planted or seeded crops germinate and emerge.

Other mulching materials that prevent weeds from growing are straw, grass clippings, wood chips, or stone chips.

Larger home gardens may warrant the use of chemical weed control.

Some planning is necessary to simplify the use of herbicides common to a number of crops. It is usually wise to keep all perennial crops, such as strawberries, raspberries, rhubarb, asparagus, and fruit trees, on one side of the garden.

Some herbicides can be applied as a spray before planting and then incorporated into the top 10 cm (4 in.) of soil. Treflan (400 grams per litre) is a preplant incorporated herbicide that controls some broadleaf weeds and most annual grasses. It can be used on snap beans, cole crops, carrots, peppers, turnips and tomatoes at a rate of 14 to 28 millilitres per 93 square metres (1/2 to 1 fluid ounce per 1000 square feet). Another preplant incorporated herbicide, Eptam (800 gm/L), is sprayed on to the soil and incorporated to control some broadleaf weeds and most annual grasses in snap beans and potatoes. Apply at a rate of 28 to 56 ml per 93 sq. m (1 to 2 fl. oz. per 1000 sq. ft.).

Another group of herbicides can be used to control weeds at the preemergence stage (after seeding but before the crop or weed emerges). Amiben (10 per cent granular) is sprinkled (not sprayed) on to the soil surface to control most broad-leaf weeds and annual grasses in asparagus, snap beans, carrots, peppers, potatoes and tomatoes. Apply at 28 gm per 93 sq. m (1 oz. per 1000 sq. ft.). Lorox or Afolan (50 per cent wettable powder) controls most broadleaf weeds and some annual grasses in asparagus, carrots and potatoes when applied preemergent as a spray to these crops at a rate of 28 ml per 93 sq. m (1 oz. per 1000 sq. ft.).

Basagran (400 gm/L) is applied as a postemergent herbicide to control most broadleaf weeds, but not annual grasses, in snap beans. It is applied at a rate of 14 to 21 ml per 93 sq. m (1/2 to 3/4 oz. per 1000 sq. ft.).

Apply the suggested rates in 3 to 4 litres (1/2 to 1 gallon) of water per 93 sq. m (1000 sq. ft.). Apply granular herbicides by sprinkling on the ground with a shaker made from an old tin can with fine holes. Apply liquids or wettable powders in 4 L of water (1 gallon) per 93 sq. m (1000 sq. ft.).

Complete herbicide recommendations are provided in Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food Publication 75 "Guide to Chemical Weed Control". Copies are available from local agriculture offices and from the Information Branch, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food, Legislative Buildings, Toronto, Ontario M7A 1A5.

A number of annual flowers will tolerate a preplant incorporated application of Treflan or Eptam before flowers are planted, or a preemergence application of Amiben granular before weeds emerge, and after annuals are transplanted and established. Some species are susceptible to the herbicides, however. Read the label carefully.

Mechanical weed control, weed prevention, and mulches are the safest methods of controlling weeds in gardens. A few herbicides are registered for use, but proper and accurate application and knowledge of weeds that can be controlled and what garden crops are tolerant, are all important for successful use.

The ladies of the L.O.B.A. had a card party at the Morgan Trumbull home on March 30 with winners being lone hands, Alice Morrison and others Freda Harrison, Pearl Cowen, Earl Hewitt and Harry MacMinn. After the euchre games, all enjoyed the delicious lunch and cup of tea and a social half hour.

Easter bunnies, jelly beans, Having to put up the screens, Shamrocks and St. Patrick's Day, Tulips in a big bouquet, Longer days and barbecues, Shrugging off the winter blues, Leaves on trees and birds on wing, I feel so good, it must be spring.

Next weekend will be Easter with special services at the Churches and many people will have family or friends visiting with them and also many summer residents come up to inspect the winter damage at their cottages.

Hint we saw in the Toronto Star - Use an empty Kraft Peanut Butter jar to fill with molasses; most of these jars have measurements on the side.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of the late Alfred John Bluett and Gordon Couvier (Kinmount) whose funerals were since last week.

At the weekly Thursday afternoon card party at St. Paul's Parish Hall winners were for cribbage Dick Cummings and Luther Wilson and for euchre, lone hands Shirley Elcome, Della Griffin and Harry MacMinn. There will be no card party on April 16th but these will resume April 23 for a few Thursdays yet.

Leslie and Emily Coulter and granddaughter Amber, of Kirkfield visited with his father Angus Coulter last Friday.

Life sends a bill for all we do, And one day all those bills fall due. Whether we drink or overeat, Fall prey to passion, lie or cheat, A righteous fate finds me and you.

For sins we sought to hide from view, For plans we failed to follow through, Along a time-worn, one-way street Life sends a bill. We pay the debts that thus accrue

In friendships dear that prove untrue, In altered size and tottering feet And loneliness. There's no retreat... Life sends a bill.

Hi! Some weather we've been having. Summer like through the week then on Sunday I thought I'd have to send out Christmas cards again. Good thing the snow didn't stay.

Had some robins in our yard last week, hope it's a sign that we won't have anymore cold weather.

The Dunsford's had Bea and Bill Evenson over for the weekend. Also Pam and Rick were over for the weekend.

Dorothy Bethune from Ullswater, visited in the area and dropped in to see her cousins the Miller's.

So sorry to hear of the passing of the Aunt of Mrs. Lynch. She passed away Monday, March 30th and was buried on Wednesday. Our prayers and condolences are with Mr. and Mrs. Lynch at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Stott have returned from a month's holidays in British Columbia, where they travelled and visited in different areas while there.

Mrs. Lyndsie Lewis is visiting with her mother and sisters for two weeks as Mrs. Bedlington (her mother) is under the weather.

Don't forget all you little pups out there, you have till the first of May to get your dog tags.

Hint of the Week

Pie in the sky - Flaky ideas - Brush the unbaked bottom crust of your pie with well-beaten egg white before filling. This keeps berries and other fruits from making pie bottoms mushy. Brush your frozen pies with melted butter before baking. The butter eliminates the dryness that freezing causes. To give a pie a rich, brown glaze, brush it lightly with milk before baking.

Experience is a wonderful thing. It enables you to recognize a mistake every time you repeat it.

There was a goodly crowd at the card party at St. Paul's Parish Hall last Thursday evening with proceeds for their Foster Child. Winners were for bridge Helen Stott, Hilda McCarey and Jerry Pillsworth; for cribbage Vera Ward, Flo Dollo and Lorne Coburn and for euchre lone hands Rheta Brown and Shirley Elcome, Pearl Cowen, Ambrose Watson and Stan Blears. There were various other draws on baked goods with most people winning something and winner of the painting, which was a special prize, was Roy McDonald.

on Your Slot Machines
A lot of people enjoy old fashioned slot machines as I do, and some even saved them over the years. Perhaps you have one at your home, or at your club, or know where some might be. I'm a slot machine collector and I pay good money for them, no matter what condition. WRITE: Russ White 39 Parkcrest Dr., P.H. 2 Scarborough, Ont. OR CALL 416-278-3275
